India Probes In Kashmir

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian forces have advanced deeper into the Pakistani sector of Kashmir in their drive to cut off guerrillas infiltrating into the Indian-held part of the Himalayan state, an informed source said today.

"We are not after territory," the source said. "Our sole objective is to cut off the infiltration of guerrillas."

The informant said the advance took place in the Tatal valley, just a few miles from the international border with Pakistan. The Indian government had claimed the advance across the ceasefire line Tuesday had created panic in some villages on the Pakistani side and some of them were being evacuated.

The Indians said they had seized two positions a mile and 200 yards inside Pakistani territory. One position is at 8,000 feet altitude overlooking the Lipa Valley, which India claims has been a primary route for the guerrillas.

The Indians first advanced across the ceasefire line Aug. 15 when they took Pakistani positions in the Kargil sector. New Delhi said then it was a move to protect the supply route to the Indian troops facing the first Chinese in Ladakh.

Official reports in Rawalpindi, the Pakistani capital, said about 1,000 Indian soldiers supported by artillery attacked two isolated Pakistani posts in the Tatal sector Wednesday. The Pakistani forces evacuated the positions and moved to alternate positions, the reports said.

The Kashmiri guerrilla radio claimed Wednesday night that guerrillas had killed 135 Indian soldiers during the previous 24 hours in their biggest attack since the fighting started.

PROTECTOR, RAGGED guerrillas fired 10 mortar rounds and 22 other shells of various calibre at the air base near Saigon. A spokesman said that 45 U.S. and Vietnamese Air Force planes and four U.S. Army helicopters were damaged, but none seriously. (AP Wirephoto)

Military Men May Be Recalled To Work In Space Laboratory

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. military may reclaim some of its astronauts from the civilian space program to fly its own manned orbital laboratory spacecraft.

That is one of the possibilities of the $1,500,000,000 project which President Johnson has directed the defense department to put into full development.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has been at pains not to emphasize the fact that the larger part of its stable of astronauts are men who still hold commissions in the armed forces.

In a press briefing Wednesday by defense officials, reporters asked if NASA astronauts might be used on some of the five flights of two-man crews to be conducted under the military's MOL program.

An official replied that this was "conceivable," adding that a number of the NASA astronauts are "professional military people."

The Johnson administration is wary about talking too much of the military aspects of the new space program which is intended to show only how much of a part military men might play in space.

BANNED BY UN Johnson, in announcing he had ordered Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to go forward with the MOL project, insisted that the "American dream for outer space is a dream of peace and a dream of friendly co-operation among all nations of the earth."

Canada, U.S. Report Distorted Co-Author Tells Banff Meet

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — An "almost impossible distortion" of the Heene-Mercant report on Canadian-American relations has given many persons the idea it proposed to gag the Canadian and U.S. governments, co-author Arnold D. P. Heene said Wednesday.

Mr. Heene told the annual Banff conference on world development the report is quite clear in suggesting each country should reserve the right to speak out on critical issues. It suggests only that this be a last resort.

"Many Canadians interpreted emphasis on quiet diplomacy, as a proposal to gag the Canadian government and prevent Canadian public criticism of U.S. external policies," he said.

"The text of the report is quite clear. There is categorical reservation of what the prime minister subsequently referred to as the right, indeed the responsibility, to speak out when the national interest of Canada requires it."

Mr. Heene, former Canadian ambassador to Washington, added that the report's "proposed restraint on premature public criticism... is intended to apply to the United States as well as Canada."

He called his first public attack on "misconceptions" arising from the report. Mr. Heene described as a "gross misconstruction" suggestions it proposes that U.S. exchange silence on U.S. policies for special economic advantages.

Midsummer Madness In U.K. Hits Labor Where It Hurts

LONDON (CP) — A sort of midsummer madness in a nation which grows up management and industry has struck British labor relations has provoked an anguished cry from a cabinet minister with long-standing union connections.

"It is absolutely, totally mad and quite infuriating," said George Brown, economics minister, deputy to Prime Minister Wilson and a member of the powerful Transport and General Workers Union.

"I don't presume to judge who is right or wrong. But

Several Viet Cong Raids Reported From War Zone

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong fired 15 mortar rounds Wednesday night at Duc Co, in the central highlands, but a U.S. spokesman said no casualties or damage were reported.

Duc Co, about 215 miles north of Saigon, was under siege for months until a large government operation relieved enemy pressure on the camp early this month.

U.S. troops were moved in to back up the government force that went to the aid of the camp Aug. 9.

Another attack, also light, was reported on Phu Cat outpost in Binh Dinh province, about 275 miles northeast of Saigon. A spokesman said the Viet Cong fired small arms at the post briefly. There were no reports of casualties.

Thirty-three Viet Cong were reported killed in three Vietnamese government operations south of Da Nang Wednesday, but a U.S. spokesman said the Communist casualties had not been confirmed by American authorities.

Vietnamese losses were not reported in two of the operations and were described as light in the third.

Brandt's Son Hurts Dad

DARMSTADT, West Germany (Reuters) — The 16-year-old son of Social Democrat Leader Willy Brandt today withdrew his signature from a Communist-sponsored leaflet on Viet Nam, but said he still condemned U.S. bombing and troop landings there.

Political observers speculated that the action of Peter Brandt in signing the leaflet might still cost his father vital votes in the West German election Sept. 19.

Brandt, mayor of West Berlin, is seeking to oust chancellor Ludwig Erhard of the Christian Democratic party.

A spokesman for mayor Brandt issued a statement saying Peter withdrew his signature and that it had been willfully misused and linked with the East German Socialist (Communist) party.

Missing Plane Safe In Cariboo

70 MILE HOUSE (CP) — A single engine plane missing on a flight from Prince George to Victoria was located safe today at Green Lake, near this community in the Cariboo.

None of the three persons aboard was reported injured.

Officials said the pilot landed at Green Lake and failed to notify authorities of the change in his flight plan.

He decided to penetrate the Viet Cong heartland, throw himself on the mercy of the guerrillas, and find the answer.

A pretty 21-year-old Vietnamese-French college girl, Colette Emberger, went along as Dawson's interpreter and shared his imprisonment. The Viet Cong released her with Dawson.

The Viet Cong were furious with Dawson.

"They demanded to know why I dared enter their territory without permission," Dawson recalled. A tall-red-haired man, he was pale from his months in the jungle prison, thin from the walk back home, but otherwise well.

"I told them my story and gave them my papers, including letters from my wife and my brother Danny's wife. They

Gemini Cracks Russian Record

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad smashed the world space endurance record held by the Soviet Union today — a major victory for the United States in the race for the moon.

The historic moment came at 9:08 a.m. EDT.

The Soviet record for a single flight—broken by Gemini 5—was 119 hours, six minutes, set by cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky in June, 1963.

The Gemini 5 spacecraft hurtled on toward a new mark of eight days in orbit.

At 1:44 a.m. EDT the Gemini 5 had completed 14 orbits.

Before the day is out, the United States will have still another record. At 2:41 p.m. EDT the U.S. astronaut corps will have logged more man hours in space than all the Soviet cosmonauts. Cooper and Conrad will have 124 hours in Gemini at that point, putting the American total over the Soviet log of 107 hours, 16 minutes.

In the early morning, the Gemini 5 spacecraft flew a nearly two-thirds of the way home in its orbital ordeal.

"Gemini's go up here," was the word from the small glint of light in the sky.

For the astronauts, there was a daily routine of picture-taking, observations and experiments—but the spacecraft clock set a record for them with every passing second.

They were given a go-ahead for a sixth day in space.

The hours preceding the record-setting were mostly quiet as the astronauts slept on and off, and the spacecraft sped on toward the goal of 3,120,000 miles.

Before the record was broken, Gemini control suggested a way to celebrate the moment:

"Do a couple of rolls and a loop," said Conrad.

"We haven't got the fuel," said Cooper.

U.K.'s Nuclear Rocket Move May Be Good Thing-Tsarapkin

GENEVA (Reuters) — Semion Tsarapkin, chief Russian disarmament negotiator, said today it would be a good thing if Britain's plan to replace nuclear rocket units in West Germany with conventional weapons was a beginning of de-nuclearizing Central Europe.

Tsarapkin spoke to reporters who questioned him before today's session of the 11-nation Geneva disarmament conference about the British proposal to substitute conventional 160-mm. guns for obsolescent rockets in two Rhine army units.

The draft calls on nuclear powers not to transfer nuclear weapons to non-nuclear states, and requires non-nuclear nations not to seek to acquire or to manufacture nuclear arms.

When first questioned, Tsarapkin replied: "It is not our business. It is a matter for the British government."

When a reporter said, "It is a measure of disarmament," Tsarapkin smiled and commented: "Or a measure of disarmament. Then he asked: 'The Soviet Union has proposed creating a nuclear-free zone in Central Europe. If this is the beginning of carrying out this plan for a de-nuclearized zone, then it is a good thing.'"

Tsarapkin has not yet commented in the conference on a draft treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons, presented last week by the United States and supported by Britain, Canada and Italy.

Changes In U.S. Immigration Approved By Representatives

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would end the controversial U.S. immigration policy based on national origins has sailed through the House of Representatives but faces tougher going in the Senate.

The House passed the bill Wednesday night by a vote of 318 to 95 after beating back a Republican-led attempt to limit immigration from Western Hemisphere countries such as Canada.

The Republicans won a brief victory when their amendment to hold immigration from North and South America to 115,000 a year was adopted by a non-record vote of 154 to 154. Democratic stragglers were quickly rounded up, however, and the action was reversed by a roll call vote of 218 to 183.

The bill is expected to increase present immigration, which averages about 300,000 a year, by an estimated 50,000.

A Senate subcommittee headed by opponents of the measure is due to meet today to consider a course of action.

President Johnson has urged prompt action this session, and Wednesday summoned Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen to the White House for a discussion.

Johnson has called "harmful" the present system that seeks to preserve the population balance of the United States as it was 45 years ago by assigning quotas to nations based on the composition of U.S. citizens in 1920. England and Germany get more than half the 158,000 total visas now authorized.

C. Of C. Opens Then Charged

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police today charged Hugh Grant, manager of the Orillia and District Chamber of Commerce, with keeping liquor for sale illegally.

Inspector Gordon M. Keast of Barrie ordered an investigation following the opening of the Chamber of Commerce's new building here. The ceremony was attended by Premier John Roberts, former premier Leslie Frost and other dignitaries.

Police said a tent was set up on the grounds to sell drinks for 10 cents each. The Orillia area is dry and police said no banquet license had been obtained from the Liquor Control Board of Ontario.

Plot Broken In Singapore

SINGAPORE (AP) — Security police here have uncovered and smashed a Communist-Indonesian plot to assassinate government ministers and create violence and political trouble in the newly-independent state, the government announced today.

One of the main aims of the plot was the assassination of Singapore's Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew, the announcement said, adding that the Singapore organizer and 20 of his agents have been arrested. A special statement identified the leader as Sim Siew Lin.

The statement said Sim personally tried to blow up the entrance of the U.S. consulate here July 31 by placing a time bomb on a bicycle near the front of the building. The bomb was discovered and defused before it could explode.

The statement said Sim was arrested after leaving a secret meeting with some of his leaders, and went on:

"In his possession were found secret correspondence with the Indonesian intelligence organization in code, instructions from the Indonesian capital, Jakarta, to establish a secret route into Singapore for an important person and propaganda material against Chinese and Malays in Singapore."

The time covered by the estimate is 78 hours, from 6 p.m. local time Friday, Sept. 3, when many early starters will get out on the roads, to midnight Monday night, Sept. 6.

Elderly Negro's Tongue Cut Out After Protest At Demonstrations

GREENSBORO, Ala. (AP) — An elderly Negro who was reported to have criticized civil rights demonstrators lay near death today, his tongue cut out — and two Negroes were held for questioning.

David Holloway, Hale County deputy sheriff, said one of the Negroes being questioned was among a group of civil rights volunteers arrested here last July when they gathered at a street corner barricade and refused to disperse.

No charges were filed immediately against the two men held for questioning.

Holloway said the injured Negro, 87-year-old Perry Smaw, was found crumpled in the doorway of his house Sunday. His tongue had been cut out and his head battered.

The officer said he was told that Smaw had publicly criticized demonstrators who sought to march to the county courthouse and picketed downtown.

SOUTH HAMPTON, England (AP) — The tiny Tinkerbelle and her skipper, newspaper man Robert Manny, sailed for home today.

The small boat was carefully cradled on the promenade deck of the giant liner Queen Mary.

With the 134-foot sailing craft was Manny, 47, who sailed it alone across the Atlantic, and his family. Manny received a cheer from fellow passengers as he boarded the 1,010-foot liner.

Dry Days Here Again, Beer Strike Hits City

Supplies Can Last 10 Days Says Liquor Board Official

A new drought may hit Kelowna, bringing parched throats and thirsty motorists, unless the Vancouver beer strike is settled in the near future.

The beer supply may go dry, due to the strike. The coast city is the main supplier for the area.

A representative of the liquor vendors, said they have a supply of bottled beer which will last them no more than 10 days, depending on whether or not the people panic and begin to lay away a supply of beer.

"We can last for about 10 days," he said. "If the demand for beer remains at a normal level, if people begin to stock up, like Vancouver, buying 20 or 30 cases at a time, we will only be able to meet the demand for two or three days."

"I do not know when the strike will end, but if it is not soon, we will not be able to get any beer, and will have to depend solely on the sale of whiskey and other hard liquors."

Joe Kewman, manager of the Royal Anne Hotel, said: "I have a supply of 200 kegs on hand, which will hold us for about 40 days, but if the strike is not over by then, we will have to close our doors."

"We do get a small supply of bottled beer, from Prince George, but this is not nearly enough to meet the large demand, and it would be foolish to depend on that amount."

T. L. Mooney, of the Willow Inn Hotel, said he had stocked up a fairly large supply of beer, due to the recent lockout of beverage dispensers.

"I think, with a little control, that I could last for about three weeks, but if there is an increase in demand, I would certainly have to close the doors sooner than anticipated."

"This will have no effect upon the lounge. This shortage applies only to beer."

SUPPLIES FOR WEEK

E. L. Adams, owner of Jenkins Carriage Ltd., which supplies the beer parlors said: "Our supply will not last for more than a week. The surplus that the beer parlors have will hold them for a while, but when the supply is gone, we have very little to offer them."

"It will be impossible for us to obtain more beer, until the strike is settled."

Tenders Called For Golden Age

Tenders will be called today for the first stage of a $800,000 senior citizens housing project sponsored by the Seventh Day Adventist Church in B.C.

Rev. L. R. Krenzier of Kelowna, said the completed project, "Okanagan Manor" will house 166 people.

The first phase is construction of two T-shaped housekeeping units, consisting of 20 bachelor suites and 32 one-bedroom suites, a lounge, utility room and a storage compartment.

"We hope to begin construction before the middle of October," Mr. Krenzier said.

"Completion date is anticipated in February, 1966."

The final phase, a Y-shaped lodge for 82 people, will begin before the housekeeping units have been completed.

NEAR MOUNTAIN

The site is a seven acre plot at the foot of Knox Mountain, on the east corner of Ebel Street and the south corner of Jones St.

The housing units each contain 33,000 square feet of floor space. Operated on a non-profit basis, accommodations are estimated at $48 per month for a one-bedroom unit and $53 for bachelor suites.

The manor will contain 27,000 square feet and will house the social center, library, infirmaries, hobby rooms, dining kitchen, laundry facilities, as well as accommodation for those who do not wish to do their own cooking.

Weather is expected today and Friday, with scattered showers both afternoons. Winds will be light, occasionally rising to south 15 in the main valley.

Low tonight and high Friday at Pentstemon will be 50 and 75, at Kamloops 50 and 70, Lytton 60 and 70, Cranbrook 50 and 72, and Revelstoke 55 and 77.

Wednesday's high and low were 75 and 50. On Aug. 25, 1964, temperatures were 75 and 53 with 67 inches of rain.

Kelowna Delegates Ready For 1965 Kiwanis Convention

Three Kelowna members will attend the Kiwanis International convention at Richmond, Washington, next week.

Representing Kelowna are Carl Hirsche, club president, Lloyd Green and John Swales. Their wives will accompany them.

The Pacific Northwest District of Kiwanis International extends from Alaska to Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Presiding over the convention will be present governor of the district, Zan H. Freeman, from Seattle, Washington.

Also attending as part of the large contingent from the Okanagan will be Alan Hassell of Vernon, lieutenant-governor of District 3, the district from Revelstoke, B.C. to Okanagan, Washington.

Included in the business will be the location of the 1966 convention, Penticton, B.C., is the Okanagan choice.

A new governor for the Pacific Northwest will be elected.

Other principal business will include committee conferences, a discussion of community service and administrative plans for the coming year, the appearance of inspirational speakers, and a golden anniversary feature.

Principal speaker at Richmond will be Robert F. Weber of Detroit, Michigan, a trustee of Kiwanis International. Donald E. Engdahl of Spokane, Washington, a past president of Kiwanis International, will also be on hand.

Mr. Weber is a 30-year veteran of Kiwanis and is now serving his second two-year term as a trustee of the international service organization. Mr. Engdahl, who has been in Kiwanis since 1933, served as president of Kiwanis International in 1955-1956.

Complete Lessons For Swim Classes

Another successful year of Red Cross swimming lessons finished today as 20 swimmers took their tests.

Of the 200 pupils registered for Junior Red Cross lessons July 1, 116 completed the course of three lessons each week, and 85 passed the junior tests.

In the intermediate classes, 45 of the registered 105 students were tested, and 51 passed.

In the Senior Red Cross course, the highest a swimmer may go in Kelowna without specializing, 22 passed, 32 were tested, and 40 had registered July 1.

Says Arena Staff Prepare Cleanup

The period between the end of the summer skating school and the beginning of the hockey season is a time of activity for the Kelowna arena staff.

After the B.C. Figure Skating Association's clinic for skating teachers, Sept. 1, 2, and 3, the ice comes out and the work begins.

"There are many things to be done," said Gordon Smith of the parks and recreation commission, "that can't be done when the ice is in."

A cleanup and repair program starts when the ice is removed, he said, and seals, dressing rooms, washrooms, hallways must be cleaned, painted and repaired.

"Then before the ice is replaced in October the arena staff need long overdue summer holidays," he added.

Two Mormons Serve Kelowna

Elder James R. Ivins of Las Vegas, Nevada, and Elder Fred Lewis of Tooele, Utah, are in the Kelowna area on a missionary for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

After their two-year terms in the mission field, telling people about the Mormon church, as it is called, the two plan to return to the university in the United States.

PARK MUSICIANS PUZZLE OFFICIALS

Who were the three musicians in the park bowl Sunday?

That's the question which is puzzling recreational officials today.

The three young men wore white jackets, lending a night club touch to the show, and entertained 300 people for one hour Sunday afternoon.

The chamber of commerce could give no clue, and the parks and recreation commission claimed the whole thing "was" to them.

"The trio featured everything from the newest hits to the old favorites."

With perfect weather, and under sunny skies, the trio arrived at the bandshell and within minutes, set up the public address system and reached their electric guitars.

Their concert was well received, and they obliged the crowd with several encores.

Who were they?

Wandering minstrels with black ties in their bedrolls? High paid performers with an anonymous patron? Nobody knows.

Skating School Winding Up

The 1965 Kelowna summer skating school winds up this weekend with final tests for the 35 students.

The general public is invited to watch the tests free of charge.

"We expect the tests will begin at 8 p.m. Friday," said Gordon Smith, superintendent of city parks and recreation commission, "and they should last two days."

The tests will be divided into three sections, the school figures, dance tests and free skating tests.

Continued cool and cloudy weather is expected today and Friday, with scattered showers both afternoons. Winds will be light, occasionally rising to south 15 in the main valley.

Low tonight and high Friday at Pentstemon will be 50 and 75, at Kamloops 50 and 70, Lytton 60 and 70, Cranbrook 50 and 72, and Revelstoke 55 and 77.

Wednesday's high and low were 75 and 50. On Aug. 25, 1964, temperatures were 75 and 53 with 67 inches of rain.

Accused Receive Suspended Terms

Magistrate D. M. White handed down two suspended sentences Wednesday.

David Hillebrand, 475 Glenwood Ave. was sentenced on two charges on false pretences. On the first he was fined $100 and on the second he was given a two year suspended sentence. He was interrupted and required to post a $300 bond.

Danilo Vojanovich, Kelowna, was given a six month suspended sentence on a charge of assault. He was required to post a $200 bond.

Schoolboy Death Shocks Citizens

Word of the death of 11-year-old Edwin McLaren, a construction accident in Vancouver was received with shock in Kelowna.

Edwin was the son of Rev. Robert McLaren, former leader at the United Church training school in the valley.

Mr. McLaren was his home at that time in Penticton and the family were regular visitors to Kelowna.

Edwin was killed Tuesday when a piece of steel pipe, 10 feet long, struck him on the head.

The changes in the school system, then, are in the application of courses and material.

Changes in the curriculum are mostly in the 'new math' with the binary system and in the science courses which now contain more material and are divided into two years, Grade XI and XII.

Because the equipment for the vocational classes is expensive, school district No. 23 is concentrating on installing vocational classrooms in the Kelowna high school.

This will shift many students from Dr. Knox, George Pringle (Westbank), George Elliot (Winfield) and Rutland.

Westbank Pupil NOCA Winner

Virginia Maddock, Westbank, won the NOCA scholarship offered annually to the Grade XII student who obtains the best marks in her grade and plans to study home economics at university.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Maddock, Westbank. Announcement of the award was made today by Floyd L. Irwin, Vernon, district superintendent of schools.

She obtained an average of 78.5 per cent in her junior matriculation examinations and a mark of 90 per cent in home economics for the year at George Pringle secondary school in Westbank.

The scholarship is open to any Grade XII student in the Kamloops, Salmon Arm or Okanagan areas. It is offered by the producers of the NOCA organization.

Two Mormons Serve Kelowna

Elder James R. Ivins of Las Vegas, Nevada, and Elder Fred Lewis of Tooele, Utah, are in the Kelowna area on a missionary for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

After their two-year terms in the mission field, telling people about the Mormon church, as it is called, the two plan to return to the university in the United States.

There are 190 Mormons in Kelowna.

GOLD BRICK FROM DUGGAN UNEARTHED

There was a demolition job recently at the O. L. Jones building on Bernard Ave., and Glen Dyck and his father were tearing down the structure when they unearthed a "treasure". Buried underneath the masonry and a loose brick was a nugget 40 years old.

This was a genuine ticket, worth 1,000 quid on "Duggan's Dublin Sweep". The ticket, and a beautiful brochure lauding Mr. Duggan and his charity enterprises, remained practically untouched since 1925. The ticket, No. 40555, was on the Epsom Derby, and in those days, the sweeps were carried through the tiny republic of Lichtenstein. How this gem reached Kelowna and became buried in a store site will forever remain a mystery, but it seems to have been a loser.

New Courses Designed To Prevent "Dropouts"

A decrease is expected in the number of high school students who quit before graduation because school seems to hold nothing for them, L. P. Dedinsky, Kelowna high school principal said Wednesday.

The reason is the new program being introduced to Grade XI this year, which offers a wide range of courses, all prerequisite to higher education in many different fields.

Of the 12 "streams" offered, only three are in the academic line, leading to university.

Many students have felt school leads nowhere but to university, said Mr. Dedinsky, and for this reason, many dropped out before graduation.

Under the new system, students may enter vocational and commercial schools with a good basic education behind them.

Commercial courses offered under the new system include secretarial, accounting and clerical; industrial courses include mechanics, construction and electricity; community services courses are foods, textiles and home and industrial service.

Other courses include arts, sciences and technical training. Mr. Dedinsky said next year students may continue this program in Grade XII, and from there will be equipped to enter vocational schools, business schools, technical schools, colleges and universities.

New courses being introduced are applied and commercial Grade XI mathematics; Grade XI chemistry; General Business XI and a revised Grade XII physics course, Physics 82.

Study halls are a thing of the past, said Mr. Dedinsky, as under the new system Grade XI students must take seven subjects.

"Students will find they have to study harder," he said.

The courses will not necessarily be more difficult, but if a student fails a subject in Grade X he will not be allowed to carry it over into Grade XI and XII. This will mean more concentration on passing every subject, he explained.

The standard of achievement is expected to rise as students find their courses more interesting, both in material and application, he said.

"Nothing succeeds like success," said Lloyd Green, vice-principal of the Dr. Knox high school. "If a student finds himself failing in Grade VIII, he is sure to be a dropout by Grade X. The new range of vocational classes is likely to give him more chances than the old system."

GROW OUT

Under the old system there were two programs, the university and general. Often a student would "fall into the general program" and find the predominantly commercial aspect of it no more to his liking than the academic air of the university program. He would drop out, he said.

"Counseling has a lot to do with today's system," Mr. Green added. "A student is encouraged to go into the stream best suited to his abilities."

The changes in the school system, then, are in the application of courses and material.

Changes in the curriculum are mostly in the 'new math' with the binary system and in the science courses which now contain more material and are divided into two years, Grade XI and XII.

Because the equipment for the vocational classes is expensive, school district No. 23 is concentrating on installing vocational classrooms in the Kelowna high school.

Red Cross Water Instructors Prepare Life Saving Plan

Here in Kelowna to teach the Water Safety Instructor Training School are Miss Louise Broome and Miss Uta Allers of Vancouver.

Part of a team of four sent out each summer by the Canadian Red Cross Society Water Safety Service, Miss Broome and Miss Allers have been teaching 19 Kelowna swimmers since Monday.

After the students are tested Saturday this 18 and over will receive "Leaders" certificates and those over 18 years will receive instructors' certificates, qualifying them to teach Red Cross swimming and water safety lessons.

The training school, held every night from 6:30 to 10 p.m. includes one and one-half hours of water work and two hours of lectures each night.

A written exam on lecture and text book material is given Saturday.

FIRST YEAR

Categories include lifesaving, swimming ability, practice teaching and water safety knowledge.

This is the first year Miss Broome and Miss Allers have taught swimming instructors. They have travelled all over the province since the first of May.

In the 30 schools they have held this year, 400 instructors have been trained. The schools are established wherever a community requests one from the Red Cross Society.

"The purpose of the school," said Miss Broome, "is to reduce the number of drowning deaths, increase the number of instructors and to promote swimming as a healthful form of recreation."

Last year there were 1,100 drowning deaths in Canada, with 157 in B.C., she said.

"By providing the proper training facilities we hope to keep the drowning rate down."

KELOWNA ASPIRANTS

The 19 students in the Kelowna school are Margaret Dooley, Gloria Lingor, Caroline Johnson, Ted Pelly, Rene Van Montfort, Curt Snook, Alex

Christian, Terri Sanger, Susan Aynsley, Philip Theobald, Jim Weidinger, Maria Crittenden, Tanya Waldron, Paul DuCharme, Janet Peto, Philip Barre, Bob Yurwa, Esther Gorman and Mrs. Marjorie McFadden.

Many of these will be trying for their Bronze Lifesaving medals under the Royal Lifesaving Program. A few are trying for the Award of Merit, the second lifesaving certificate including Margaret Dooley of Lakeview, Alex Christian of Kelowna and Jim Weidinger of Prince Rupert.

"I hope we will have some working on the Award of Distinction next year," said Miss Allers. "We have none in Kelowna this year."

NEED INDOOR POOL

The highest lifesaving award is the Diploma. To obtain this, a person must take a strenuous three hour written exam. There are very few Diploma holders in British Columbia.

Miss Broome is a firm believer in Kelowna's need for a complete lifesaving program. The instructors are available, she said, but something else is missing, perhaps time, perhaps money.

Says Dog Owners Contravene Laws

City poundkeeper, James Burbridge, today appealed to residents for assistance in keeping dogs from running at large on Kelowna streets.

"Too many dog owners permit their pets to roam at night in contravention to the leash laws in effect in this city," Mr. Burbridge said.

"Property owners can cooperate also by seeing their garbage cans have lids that fasten securely and not overflowing with garbage that attracts dogs."

"Chemical can be purchased to spray on cans and contents that will repel the dogs," said Mr. Burbridge.

KINETTES PLEDGE WARD DONATION

The Kelowna Kinette club has pledged a donation to the Kelowna General Hospital to furnish a private ward in the coming new wing, in memory of Mrs. Sheila Clarke who was vice-president of the club at the time of her death in Nov., 1964. Victor Haddad, chairman of the hospital Board of Trustees accepts the cheque from Mrs. P. V. Ponich, chairman of the Sheila Clarke memorial committee, left, and Mrs. N. Peters, president of the Kinette club. The cheque for $500, the first part of the pledge, was presented Wednesday in the hospital library. Also attending the presentation were Miss C. C. Sinclair, director of nursing at the Kelowna General Hospital and C. F. Lavery, hospital administrator. (Courier photo)

Public Approves But Can Give No Support

For a year now the "Poetic Carpenter" has intrigued the imagination of the people of Kelowna. There has been much speculation as to his identity. For our part, we do not want to know who he is; we prefer that he remain anonymous.

The carpenter, it will be remembered, a year ago startled the area by saving down certain commercial signs on Indian reserve land across the lake. He left a little poem outlining his reasons.

This newspaper, it seems, owes him an apology. We have been thinking of him in terms of "vandal." A check of the Short Oxford Dictionary indicates that a vandal is a wilful or ignorant destroyer of anything beautiful, venerable or worthy of preservation. This suggests that our carpenter friend is not a vandal. Certainly the signs he cut down were neither beautiful nor venerable. Were they worthy of preservation? That perhaps depends on the viewpoint. The owners doubtless would say yes while most others would disagree.

This whole "carpenter incident" is rather intriguing. Certainly, he is breaking the law in that he not only trespassed but he also destroyed other people's property. Probably lawyers could dig up several other charges as well. For this he cannot be pardoned.

Yet there is a bit of romance about this whole affair. Here is a man (we assume he is a man) who exemplifies the feeling of the community about those signs, yet he alone determined to do something about it—and he did. Law-abiding citizens must say he was wrong. But, then, did and do not law-abiding citizens have a sneaking admiration for Robin Hood? And certainly there is something of Robin Hood in this escapade.

In a letter to this newspaper the other day he lamented the re-erection of the signs along Highway 97. He also seemed to infer that perhaps he may make use of his trusty saw again. Most people, we feel, will join him in his lamentation about the reappearance of the unsightly billboards, while not suggesting for a moment he should take up action again.

But if he should...

India's Leaders Meditate To Solve National Problems

BOMBAY (CP) — Mysticism and politics seem to go hand in hand in this democracy of 600,000,000 people.

A few days ago a front-rank opposition politician, Fatch Singh, bearded leader of the militant Sikhs, began one of his "meditation sessions."

After several days of lonely reflection on the state of his community, India and the world, Singh will return to his headquarters near New Delhi with additional reserves of spiritual strength.

Two years ago Singh vanished for a month, and when he returned he said: "I feel stronger now. The communion with God and nature has renewed my faith in the justice of the Sikhs' demand for a separate Punjab-speaking state within the Indian union."

Meditation and reflection in some lonely forest, cave or mountain is becoming more and more popular with Indian politicians.

Home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda, who is in charge of internal security, recently went to Rishikesh in the Himalayas for a spell of "spiritual replenishment," as he likes to call it. Rishikesh on the banks of the River Ganges, sacred to the Hindus, is the favorite refuge of meditating politicians because of its scenic charms.

During his three days in Rishikesh Nanda was accompanied by some government officials. But he took time out for solitary walks and cross-legged prayers on the banks of the great river.

Nanda also joined groups of Himalayan monks in their prayers. He is president of the all-India Association of Monks which has a membership of more than 10,000.

Morari Das, 65-year-old leader of the right wing of the ruling Congress party and a former finance minister, says every politician must find time for reflection and heart-searching in order to be of better service to his people. Das meditates at least an hour a day.

One Indian weekly even suggested that Prime Minister Shastri should make efforts to bring the disputing statesmen of the world to a monastery in Rishikesh for "a weekend of prayers, congregational singing and meditation."

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Some Older Women Lose More Teeth

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:

My hair is coming out by handfuls, even though I am taking Vitamin B, which doesn't seem to help much. What is your advice?—MRS. R.B.

Loss of hair is always more important to a woman than to a man, unfortunately, however, it doesn't happen nearly as often with the fairer sex.

You, Mrs. R.B., didn't mention your age or a number of other important facts about your health, scalp and hair, but I'll tell you what I can and what I hope will be helpful.

Loss or thinning of hair seems to be an increasing problem in females over 40. Women's hair isn't much different from what they've always been, except that more of them (and men, too) are living longer.

The likely reason for loss of hair in women are skin diseases of the scalp; poor nutrition; and decline in glandular activity. (Among men, heredity is by far the dominant factor.) Loss of hair because of diseases such as typhoid has, of course, become far less common.

Why, then, should the problem be increasing? Very likely it could be related to the rather energetic ways of caring for hair—by which I mean waving, teasing, lacquering, vigorous combing, spraying and so on. These expose the hair to quite a variety of strong chemicals and strains.

Since the texture and strength of hair varies considerably, some women have trouble while others don't. However, strong chemicals and rough treatment can break off the hair shafts. This "loss" causes panic as women tell of hair coming out by the handfuls.

The hair isn't always coming out. A great many times it is, instead, breaking off. Mrs. R.B. notices hair. That would indicate that the hair is breaking off rather than coming out. Since hair takes a long time to grow, she may well have thinning for many months, but this doesn't mean she's becoming bald. There's a difference.

Faulty nutrition can affect the hair, so follow the doctor's advice about correcting it. But don't mistakenly think that any particular vitamin is going to "grow hair." It won't.

If scalp disease is present, naturally it should be corrected, but there again your physician or a dermatologist (skin specialist) will have to diagnose and decide how to treat it.

A program, in addition to the foregoing, which you can do yourself, consists of:

Using a shampoo, but avoiding other chemical treatments (waving, teasing, etc.) for several months. By then you will have moved.

You can always phone or write the county medical society in the city and obtain reliable information. If you have a strong preference for a particular hospital, perhaps of a certain religious affiliation, specify that so you can choose a doctor who fronts patients at that hospital.

NOTE TO G.B.: There is no physical reason why a hysterectomy, whether partial or even complete, should change your sex life.

know whether these have been making your hair brittle. While you wait for new hair to grow, there's no point in breaking off more of the old, brittle shafts.

Gentle massage of the scalp can stimulate circulation, if that happens to be involved. But remember I said "gentle."

People lose on an average of 30 to 60 hairs a day, normally. Take a "comb count." I doubt that your hair is coming out by the handfuls.

NOTE TO MRS. E.M.: No, I didn't give a remedy for psoriasis. I said that many remedies have been tried, and sometimes some of them work. Or, anyway, the psoriasis clears up, perhaps because of the remedy, perhaps spontaneously. It's hard to tell. It's also impossible, so far as I know, to predict in advance what remedy may help which patient. Besides, psoriasis often shows a great seasonal variation, better in summer than in cloudy, winter weather.

Dear Dr. Molner: How should I take the long hairs off a mole on my little girl's neck?—MRS. C.B.

Clip them with scissors. Do NOT try to pull the hairs, shave them, or remove them chemically. Snipping them off is the only safe way. (Unless you have your doctor remove the mole.)

Dear Doctor: Is a baby born with hydrocephalus or can it develop after birth? What is the outlook?—M.M.

Hydrocephalus (enlargement of the head because of pressure of fluid inside) is usually due to a developmental defect. Hence it is usually present from birth.

Occasionally it occurs as the result of a tumor or of inflammation which obstructs the flow of spinal fluid. The fluid accumulates inside the skull, and cannot flow out again normally. This type of hydrocephalus usually is apparent by the first year of life.

The outlook for treatment, frankly, is not good. If one of the later obstructions can be found and corrected, the chances are better. Fairly recently there has been work with a special valve, inserted surgically, to relieve the pressure but this is a complicated procedure.

You cannot prevent hydrocephalus.

Dear Dr. Molner: How should a family select a good physician, surgeon in a strange city?—A.R.S.

If you had one where you lived before, ask him. He may not be able to recommend one for you, but usually he DOES know physicians in other cities, and perhaps in the city to which you have moved.

You can always phone or write the county medical society in the city and obtain reliable information. If you have a strong preference for a particular hospital, perhaps of a certain religious affiliation, specify that so you can choose a doctor who fronts patients at that hospital.

NOTE TO G.B.: There is no physical reason why a hysterectomy, whether partial or even complete, should change your sex life.

OTTAWA REPORT

History Train To Tour Canada

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Half the population of Canada can start to dream that they will visit the centennial exhibit in its maiden-form car.

The Confederation train will carry the exhibit across Canada throughout next year, 1967. Eight motorized caravans will carry replicas of the exhibit to smaller communities which the train cannot visit. Its theme is to be Canada through the ages, from the pre-Confederation to the present.

The project officer in charge of this largest travelling show in the world is Ottawa's Les Maillens—whose name is familiar in women's bedrooms around the world because of a widely advertised bralette designed by his wife Norma.

Tourists visiting the capital this summer have been surprised to see a number of adult civil servants playing with and photographing a brightly painted child's train, winding round Ottawa's famous sandhills. They were experimenting with color schemes, and making colored photographs of the train—a replica of the Confederation train—for publicity purposes. It has 15 units. Two brightly painted diesel engines will pull seven dark colored utility coaches; three sleeping cars to accommodate the exhibition crew of 22 and a dining car for their use, an equipment car, a baggage car and a steam-generator car. The exhibit itself will be set up in six cars, each 35 feet long and 10 feet wide, painted in gay colors.

Les Maillens has previously escorted V.I.'s around Canada, including prime ministers and U.S. presidents. He tells me that this Confederation exhibit will blaze new trails: it won't be a sterile museum-type show, but will comprise vivid designs, electronic voice descriptions and sounds and smells, telling the story of Canada to Canadians who take the 30-minute walk through the rail cars.

They will be reminded of the once-tropical swamps which the eight caravans will each consist of three station wagons and eight tractor-trailers. Each will tow a separate region of Canada, visiting communities which the train will not cover. At halts, the trailers will be parked corral fashion, enclosing a central exhibit space and stage. Like the train, the caravans will be open free, from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily.

Centennial Commissioner John Flaherty tells me that he has made an extensive study of the problems of caravan exhibits, and has picked up some useful tips from Les Howard, mayor of Sudbury, Ont., who is North America's leading expert in this field as the planner of the Ford Foundation trailer exhibit.

Of the first series of 126 patients, 13.5 per cent were discharged from hospital. Eighteen per cent of the second series of 126 patients were discharged.

The combined total for the 254 patients is 15.8 per cent—or 40 lives saved.

Drs. Smith and Anthonisen cite three factors as contributing to the success:

1. The resuscitation team was ready and organized to reach patients quickly and treat them efficiently;

2. Because of the training of hospital personnel in emergency measures, resuscitation could be attempted in a greater number of cases;

3. All resuscitated patients were transferred to a cardio-pulmonary (heart-lung) intensive-care unit run by highly trained staff.

Treatment of the second series of patients differed from the first in the use of direct current shock to stop irregular heartbeat and injections of large doses of sodium bicarbonate.

In an emergency, external cardiac massage and artificial respiration are applied immediately and the cardiac-resuscitation team made up of a senior cardiac resident, a specially trained nurse and a male attendant. They bring an equipment trolley containing drugs, a DC defibrillator to apply the shock, and other equipment.

Drs. Smith and Anthonisen say that until recently "the onset of ventricular fibrillation (irregular heartbeat) or standstill used to be synonymous with death, with or without, however, with external cardiac massage and electrical defibrillation, life can be saved."

Monte Cristo
Seeks Tourists

MONTECRISTO, Italy (AP)—This rocky dot of an island, made famous by the Alexandre Dumas novel—is to be turned into a tourists' haven.

Montecristo, in the Tyrrhenian Sea, south of Elba, has been leased by a Roman real estate corporation from the Italian government.

The six present inhabitants are a family of custodians. They live in a small house in the little valley opening up from the only bay. The road leading from the bay to the house is the only road on the cliff-topped island.

In the Dumas novel, the hero, Edmond Dantes, finds a treasure on the island after his escape from prison and calls himself the Count of Monte Cristo, while he wreaks vengeance on those who unjustly imprisoned him.

UN Can Function Again

United States action in refusing to make an issue out of Russian and French obstinacy in the United Nations assessment-paying dilemma has averted a calamitous showdown. It is nevertheless at best only a temporary stopgap.

Russia and France have consistently refused to pay UN peace-keeping assessments. Article 19 of the UN charter proclaims that nations which are more than two years behind with their dues, cannot, if challenged, vote in the General Assembly.

Up until a month ago, the U.S. indicated it had every intention of challenging the French and Russian delegations. A major crisis loomed, a crisis that could have emasculated the UN's effectiveness as a power for law and order.

An American turnaround at the last moment can therefore be called a victory for good sense over onerousness. It is a feather in President Johnson's cap. Rather than force the UN into an untenable situation, he ordered Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, who recently succeeded the late Adlai Stevenson as chief of the American delegation to the UN, to announce that the U.S. would not challenge the right of the French and Russians to vote in the General Assembly.

This action, broad-minded as it is, begs some questions: What happens the next time the UN decides to send a peace-keeping force to a world trouble spot? Who will finance it? Will American public opinion support these forces if the U.S. is again put in the position of bearing the brunt of the costs?

There is no question that the average American citizen will not support any peace-keeping scheme that makes the U.S. look like a pullable fool. In other words, the American public will no longer be willing to support UN forces that the French and Russians refuse to help finance.

Probably the only way out of this problem would be for the UN hierarchy to encourage Canada to go ahead with its scheme to organize a middle-power, peace-keeping force that would be on call to go to the Cyprus and Congo of the future.

It is Canada's contention that the major powers are so tied up in their struggle for supremacy that they cannot be expected to do the police work for the UN. But the middle powers, like Canada, Sweden, The Netherlands, Brazil and Australia, can be expected to.

If a number of middle-power nations guaranteed to outfit and support a permanent UN peace-keeping force, the problem could very well reach Easy Street. It could be their way of making an outstanding contribution to world peace and UN survival.

Should Canada and seven or eight other middle powers commit two or three thousand fully equipped troops apiece to a permanent peace-keeping body, the UN would have on call a police force that it could send at an instant's notice to a trouble spot.

This police force would be under UN management but would be paid for and equipped by the middle-power participants.

To succeed, the plan would have to be supported by far more than a handful of middle powers. Few nations would be willing to spend tens of millions of dollars each year on such a scheme. But a goodly number of them could doubtless be persuaded to spend a few million annually.

Allied Bombing Is Crystallized

By DAVE MCINTOSH

Canadian Press Staff Writer

In a slim (122 pages) and marvelously clear book, Noble Frankland of England has crystallized his long study and thinking about the 1940-45 Allied bombing offensive against Nazi Germany.

Entitled The Bombing Offensive Against Germany, Outlines and Perspectives (Kegan Paul, London), the book follows Frankland's and the late Sir Charles Webster's 1961 four-volume official history of the offensive.

Frankland, now director of the Imperial War Museum, says RAF Bomber Command achieved few significant results until late 1944, then persisted mainly in the bombing of cities instead of concentrating on oil and transport targets.

He says Bomber Command and the U.S. 8th Air Force both made the same mistake: They believed they could bomb with few losses without first winning command of the air over Germany.

RAF Bomber Command exhausted itself in the nighttime Battle of Berlin which ended in March, 1944. The U.S. 8th Air Force was hurt as badly in a series of daylight raids ending with the attack on Schweinfurt Oct. 14, 1943.

Frankland says it was only an accident that permitted the offensive to continue: The introduction of the long-range American Mustang fighter, first to protect U.S. bombers over Germany and then to drive the Luftwaffe to ground. This "Mustang miracle"—the author's phrase—led to collapse of the German night fighter force partly because U.S. bombers were able to resume raids on oil targets.

CHANGED WAR COURSE
Thus, both the great bombing forces came in the end up against the same harsh facts: bombers "couldn't" not survive in their own element and strategic bombing could not be sustained unless a condition of air superiority was created for them: air superiority was a question of bringing the opposing and defending air force to its knees.

Frankland says the vigorous employment of the Mustang changed the course of the war in the air.

"The U.S. showed that they possessed the power and the resources to recover a situation which had been almost lost and from which it may be doubted if any of the other combatant nations could have recovered."

Wolves Beware Of This Miss...

CALGARY (CP) — Margitta Hilbig finds few to challenge her in her specialty. The 26-year-old brunette is a karate expert.

In two months she will be presented with a black belt and as far as she knows she will be the only woman in Canada to have achieved this level of proficiency in the sport.

She was introduced to the sport 2½ years ago when she took a job as secretary of Olaf Simon, a karate instructor. After watching pupils train she decided to try it herself.

Today she instructs four city women in karate, a sport in which the toughened edge of the hand is used as a weapon.

"Women take karate to develop their figure and improve their general health," Miss Hilbig says, referring to the graceful ballet-like movements. "You just don't gain weight if you take karate."

Last May Miss Hilbig was a Canadian representative at the Western U.S. karate championships in Salt Lake City.

"I had to compete against men because there just weren't any women around. The men didn't want to compete against me but when they realized I was serious about karate they agreed to the matches."

A slight injury forced her to withdraw before the finals. Simon says karate is a combination of calisthenics and not a sensational exhibition of brute strength.

"There is no evil aim in karate. Students are forbidden to use the art except in extreme cases of self-defense."

Miss Hilbig says "it's a form of dancing" but women find it harder to learn than men "because we do not learn as children to fight with our hands." Contrary to popular belief, she adds, you don't need to develop ugly, calloused hands.

ANN LANDERS

Neighbours Are Asking Too Much From Oddball

Dear Ann Landers: Am I big-hearted or do I have the word sucker written all over my face?

There are eleven houses on this block but everybody who wants to borrow a cup of sugar or an aspirin rings my bell. The lady next door is married to a man who can buy and sell my husband ten times over, yet she has been using my washing machine for three weeks.

A man across the street had trouble getting his car started. Of all the places he could have gone for help he picked me. (Yes, I'm a strong woman, but wouldn't you have thought he'd ask a man to help him?) Well, Ann, I have pushed his car every day for two weeks. Yesterday I said, "Look, I'm pushing you today for the last time. Get a new battery and leave me alone." Boy he is mad.

Am I an oddball to resent this? I don't ask my neighbors for the time of day. Please give me some advice — THE MAGNET.

Dear Mag: There's a vast difference between lending a neighbor an aspirin and pushing a man's car every day for two weeks. If you don't know the difference, then you are an oddball.

Each person must decide for himself how far he will let friends and neighbors go. You've let yours go too far, Petunia.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband who is 41 has had a serious liver problem for over seven years. This last year it has become much worse.

The doctor told Jack in 1959 that he must give up alcohol if he wants to live. I have threatened to leave him. I've cried, and even gotten down on my knees and begged him to leave liquor alone but I might as well talk to the lamp post.

Two weeks ago Jack had an acute attack and had to be rushed to the hospital. I thought surely it would kill him or cure him. Lord knows how he pulled through.

Jack has been home from the hospital three days and is feeling much better. Tonight before supper he fixed himself a martini. Now he's on his fourth and told me to skip his dinner. Why would a man do this when his doctor has told him it adds up to suicide? — DESPONDENT WIFE.

Dear Wife: Because he is an alcoholic. And alcoholics want to kill themselves but they'd rather use a bottle than a gun.

Dear Ann Landers: I always knew there was something extraordinary about me but I didn't know what to call it until I read some books on extra-sensory perception. I have it.

When I wake up in the morning I can feel when I'm going to receive a letter. I can often tell within seconds that the phone is going to ring. I've walked down the street and thought of someone I hadn't seen in months, and within minutes I've bumped into that person.

Several weeks ago I said to my father, "The market is awfully high. It's going down soon." The next day it really took a dive.

I'm doing a very fine man. I've only gone out with him four times but I know I'm going to marry him. Do you think I should tell him? Would it hurt or help the romance? — JANUS.

Dear Janus: I've only got five senses and sometimes I'm not too sure of them so I'm in no position to give advice to someone who can predict what's going to happen to the stock market.

I don't think it's smart to tell a man you're going to marry him until he asks you — with or without E.S.P.

Primitive Camp Site For Girls Attending Ontario Training School

PORT BOLSTER, Ont. (CP) — A corner of a field on the Trent Canal with an old wood-burning stove standing in it is part of an Ontario training school.

Small groups of girls from Trentlawney House, an institution for 20 girls of school age, are taken to the primitive camp for four or five days each summer.

The land itself is loaned the training school by a relative of a staff member. While it is serving as a camp it is furnished with tents, the stove, a refrigerator that stands in a grove of trees, a mirror nailed to a tree trunk and a dresser in a clearing.

A recent group included an 11-year-old leader of a young gang of shoplifters, a 15-year-old petty thief, a 12-year-old who needed for affection had led her to hitchhike up and down the highway looking for rides and a substitute for love from truck drivers.

Mrs. M. E. Jansen, retiring superintendent of Trentlawney House, says the girls sent there never wear uniforms, and the only enclosure around the house is a neat hedge. She says girls have run away, but have returned or been brought back.

She says only one girl has been sent back to court to face a charge after her release from the house. She estimates 75 per cent of the girls who have left have married and the others have gone to jobs as nursing assistants, secretaries or hairdressers.

Mrs. Jansen has kept a scrapbook of letters written to her, of pictures and newspaper clippings from girls who have kept in touch. She says she will leave the scrapbooks for the house, but will take with her a scrap of paper which she described as the goal and good of her work.

It is a letter written in the uncertain hand of a seven-year-old. It says, "Dear Mother," (a name often given Mrs. Jansen) "I am trying to be good now. Love, Betty."

Canada Sends 150 Reps To U.K.

OTTAWA (CP) — Indian and Eskimo handicrafts from the Northwest Territories will be displayed at the 11th triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World being held in Dublin Sept. 14-24.

They will include examples of moosehair and porcupine quill embroidery, slippers of tanned white caribou hide with chain-stitch embroidery and muskrat fur trim, and carvings in ivory and bone.

About 150 women will represent Canada at the conference, which expects an attendance of more than 1,200 from 40 countries.

Sort Of "Cloak" And Dagger Air About In Paris Now

PARIS (AP) — The Paris high press and buyers' showings, in-fashions industry is raising its guard against another wave of espionage as seamstresses toil behind locked doors preparing the first exclusive patterns.

The industry doesn't like to discuss the subject, and only a few cases — or suspected cases — reach the courts and thus public record.

High fashion's vulnerability results from the perishable quality of its product. The houses go to great lengths to preserve exclusivity on the creations of their high-paid talent. Some incidents start in the

Because the Paris designers can receive $1,400,000 a season from U.S. firms alone for these rights, they — and the legitimate buyers — hit the ceiling when a non-buying store is first on the racks with $2.99 imitations.

But where there's a spy, there's a way. To some manufacturers, the potential profit sometimes overbalances the risk.

"They use every method imaginable from brain-picking the legitimate buyers to trying to sidetrack deliveries of the patterns," says an industry spokesman.

WEDDING CAKE HARD TO HANDLE

TORONTO (CP) — Neither the bride nor the groom nor the maître d' of the restaurant catering to the wedding could cut the wedding cake.

It took the restaurant's chef with a butcher knife to slice into the gorgeous-looking pastry — and make the chips fly literally.

For the cake had been sent in error, and was made of solid wood.

A quickly-substituted fruit cake from a nearby supermarket was supplied for Mr. and Mrs. Allan Burchel and their guests.

PETER'S PATTERN

with PETER MUNOZ

The best in volleyball might be a fitting ad to hang on the marquee just outside the arena prior to Oct. 17. That full Sunday afternoon, inside the "house of the Buckaroos", some of the world's top exponents of the driving net game will give us an insight on how it should be played.

Out of Montreal via a Canadian Press wire story Wednesday came the revelation that Kelowna is included on the traveling itinerary of the Soviet Union's Olympic championship volleyball team. Along with this crack squad, and providing opposition is the U.S. national team. Both these groups are crackjacks when it comes to communicating the artistry of the set and the spike.

And just why was Kelowna included on this tour that otherwise, with the possible exception of Saskatoon, N.B., takes in only some of Canada's major centres? I suspect because the game is starting to catch on thereabouts, particularly at the high school level.

Talking to Jack Brown, city recreation director, confirmed this. He went even further. He pointed out the tremendous strides made in Kelowna largely due to the efforts of George Elbert, secondary school principal Peter Greer, who is an ardent "pusher" of the sport, and Dave Turkington, who now has the fire burning at Kelowna secondary.

Now it appears the B.C. Volleyball Association, cognizant of the developing interest in these parts, decided to include Kelowna in the tour along with Victoria and Vancouver providing the necessary facilities could be met. They approached Turkington with the idea and Dave in turn passed the information on to the Kelowna recreation officials.

A Russian team for Kelowna? Well, they could be marvellous change and still be fascinating. The two squads will probably play a series of games and demonstrate the game's finer points.

For the novice or those just not too sure of the mechanics of the game, volleyball at this level is played with six sides. Both visiting clubs will probably have enough personnel to field two complete sides. There are some 40 persons expected in the party.

Since we're devoting an activities relating to the arena, it might be an opportune time to raise the question of facilities in the arena. OJHL hockey will start in early October this year with training camp sometime in September. Dressing rooms in the building are in need of repair and sprucing up and the arena's acoustics are terrible.

A Toronto visitor at the recent summer hockey game commented on the fine arena but was puzzled by the word "arena" running from the public address system. Surely some improvements can be made.

Rain Wipes Away Giants' Lead Chance To Overtake Braves

By HAL BOKK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It rained all over Herman Franks Wednesday and stilled his best franchise. Giants while they appeared ready to step past Milwaukee Braves into second place in the National League behind Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Giants were leading Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0 with one out in the bottom of the 10th inning and the Pirates field coach already showed that New York Mets and that Milwaukee had gone down 7-4 to Cincinnati Reds.

But then the rain started and after waiting 44 minutes for the storm to abate, the officials called the game with the score 3-0. The game was called at the end of the 10th inning, leaving the game a 3-0 lead. That left the Giants at third place, a full game back of Los Angeles in other league games.

Coast Team Ousted From Babe Ruth Play

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP) — A barrage of hits plus tight pitching by Jim Fischer boosted Brookfield, Ill., to an 11-4 victory over North Vancouver Wednesday in the Babe Ruth League baseball world championship. Brookfield collected 13 hits and committed only one error in topping the Canadian team. Fischer allowed North Vancouver only four blows.

The loss eliminated North Vancouver from the double elimination tournament. Brookfield had been beaten once.

Loseth Wings Two-Hitter To Keep Royals' Fire Aglow

ROYALS 3 ROVERS 0

Royal Anne Royals kept their playoff hopes alive Wednesday night by blanking Rutland Rovers 3-0 at Rutland's Centennial Park.

Four costly errors allowed Royals to score three unearned runs as righthander Gib Loseth fired a two-hitter at Rovers' pitcher.

Rovers lead the best-of-five final for the George Rieger Memorial trophy 2-1 in games with one game tied. Rovers need only a tie to win the championship.

While Loseth was setting down Rovers in fine fashion his mound opponent, Arnie Rath, gave up only four singles, two of which were harmless. The other two combined with the boots did the damage. Rovers committed five mistakes to Royals' one.

FATAL FOURTH INNING Royals counted their first run in an inning that saw Rovers commit three successive errors. All the trouble came with two out in the top of the fourth.

Charlie Jungblum, who never stopped running, boosted a fly to shallow right field. Ed Hoffman dropped the ball as he tried to cradle it in his stomach. Jungblum raced around second and was trapped in a "hot box".

The wily Royals' shortstop must have had his rabbit's foot or other lucky charm in his hip pocket for third sacker Gordy Hunter missed the toss and Jungblum reaped up safe at third. Ed Sehn stepped in and sent a screamer into centre field scoring Jungblum.

OPEN GAP Royals held the slim 1-0 margin until the eighth. Joe Fisher opened with a single that took a bad hop past second baseman Mickey Kroschinsky. Dick Jones hit back to the mound erasing Fisher at second. Catcher Boris Katsatoff was safe on first baseman Don Kroschinsky's error and Jones went to third.

Steve Murray sent in to run for Jones made it safely home on third baseman Bob Campbell's error after Loseth topped the ball to the left of the mound. Katsatoff moved to third on the lead throw in the inning. He came home on Wayne Horning's sacrifice fly.

Jungblum had the ball dancing his way all night. In the bottom of the first inning he checked off a Rover threat with a diving grab to double Don Schneider off second. Earlier he was pulled off second in an attempt to force Schneider on an attempt to force Schneider on.

With two on and no outs, Rath had his bid for a base hit turned into two outs because of Jungblum's antics.

DEFENSIVE GEMS There were other sparkling defensive moves in the contest. Don Kroschinsky pulled off another of his patented over the shoulder grab of a ball hit along the right field line and late he robbed Rich Bullock of a base hit when he snared his bouncer headed into right field. Gord Runner also came up with a fine grab of a smash down third in the fourth frame.

Fifth game in the series goes tonight at 8 p.m. when starting at 8:30 Joe Ostres is expected to get the nod for Rovers' mound duty while Royals probably will come back with Loseth. If not John Swilly will get the call.

LINESCORE 000 100 020-3 4 1 Royals 000 000 000-0 2 3 Rovers Loseth and Katsatoff; Rath and Hunter.

"Catfish" Takes Tiger By Tail Twirls KC To 5-0 Triumph

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim (Catfish) Hunter, 19, Kansas City's bonus baby, posted his first major league shutout Wednesday night as he pitched the Athletics to a 5-0 victory over Detroit Tigers.

It was the second straight impressive performance for the young right-hander who came out of Hartford, N.S., last year with a nickname he acquired fishing, minus a toe he lost hunting and with his pockets filled with $75,000 of Charles Finley's bonus money.

Ten days ago he took New York Yankees with a 4-1 four-hitter. Adding his six - hitter against the Tigers gave him a 2-0 record with the last-place Athletics.

Meanwhile, at the top of the standings, Minnesota Twins increased their league lead to 7½ games by edging the Yankees 4-1 while Baltimore Orioles tripped the second-place Chicago White Sox 2-1.

Elsewhere, Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader from Los Angeles 6-3 and 5-2 and Boston Red Sox walked off Washington Senators 8-3.

Hunter got the only run he actually needed against the Tigers when Bert Campaneris tripled in the first inning and scored on an infield out. Wayne Causey and Ken Harrelson each drove in two runs for Kansas City while John Blanchard accounted for the other with a homer.

MICKY OPENS DOOR Yankee outfielder Mickey Vernon opened the door for a decisive three-run Twins' rally in the seventh inning when he dropped Jerry Knudsen's drive to left center to open the inning.

One out later, Zoilo Versalles drew a walk. Rick Rollins then crashed a 2-3 hit with a triple and scored the final run on Earl Flatter's double.

Out in the Pacific, Hawaii trouped Spokane 9-2.

A ninth inning single by Portland's Billy Williams spoiled Santiago's bid for a no-hitter in the rainwater game in Vancouver. Loser Bob Allen, with seven strikeouts, and reliever Jack Spring, with four, combined with Santiago's 14 to break an all-time league record for strikeouts in a single game. The record was first set by Portland and Seattle in 1905.

OTAWA AILING For Als Meeting MONTREAL (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders, battling to catch first-place Hamilton Tiger-Cats, may be forced to go without two regulars when they meet Montreal Alouettes here in tonight's only scheduled Eastern Football Conference game.

The Montrealers in turn, will be out to grab a piece of second spot, now in sole possession of the Roughies.

John O'Quinn, Rough Riders' general manager, said in Montreal Wednesday night that half-back Ron Stewart has a virus infection and may miss tonight's game.

O'Quinn said centre Mike Blum also is a doubtful starter with a hip injury picked up in the Riders' 27-1 loss to Hamilton Saturday night.

In addition, quarterback Russ Jackson is not running with 100-per-cent efficiency.

Roughies De-Fuse Bombers Campbell Stars In 25-6 Win

WINNIPEG (CP) — Hugh Campbell, veteran flanker for Saskatchewan Roughriders, is not noted for his speed and at six feet doesn't have a marked height advantage over pass defenders.

So why, coach Bud Grant of the Blue Bombers was asked, did the 26-year-old import at eight passes from quarterback Ron Lancaster for 26 yards—56 per cent of Saskatchewan's total offense — to carry his 17 points.

Playing before 22,486 fans, the largest Winnipeg crowd in history, Campbell pulled in eight passes from quarterback Ron Lancaster for 26 yards—56 per cent of Saskatchewan's total offense — to carry his 17 points.

Halfback Bill Gray, and Jim Worden and fullback George Reed did the rest at Saskatchewan. Campbell pulled in eight passes from quarterback Ron Lancaster for 26 yards—56 per cent of Saskatchewan's total offense — to carry his 17 points.

Gray scored two touchdowns. Worden got one and Reed rammed on 88 of Saskatchewan's 123 yards on the ground as the Roughriders shipped into second place, one point behind Winnipeg's eight and one ahead of Calgary Stampeders.

The Stampeders shot for a share of first place Saturday night when they entertain Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Conference in a Canadian Football League game.

Campbell's first catch ate up 33 yards and pulled the Roughriders from their own 31-yard line to the Winnipeg 31 early in the first quarter. His second was for 21 yards and his third for 15. Seconds later Lancaster dropped back, threw deep into the left corner of the end zone and saw Gray make a diving catch for the Roughriders' first touchdown.

Jack Abernethy, Saskatchewan's rookie guard, booted the first of three converts and it was 14-0. Abernethy also had a 20-yard field goal and the Roughriders' other point was a single on end Martin Falt's fourth-quarter pass.

In the second quarter Campbell grabbed Lancaster's pass and scrambled to the Winnipeg 18-yard line—53-yard gain.

Abernethy missed a 26-yard field goal attempt but minutes later Campbell snatched Lancaster's 17-yard aerial on the Winnipeg 12-yard line. With 20 seconds remaining Lancaster rifled the ball to Worden for the touchdown.
